RUSHVILLE MAN RECOVERS AUTO

Machine Belonging to Carl O'Neil,
Stolen in Indianapolis Oct. 3,
Is One of 11 Found

TWO MEN HAVE CONFESSED

Mr. O'Neil Has Been Paid by Insurance Company But Still is Loser $100 in Coats and Robes

Indianapolis detectives, working on a clue concerning stolen automobiles, yesterday located the new machine belonging to Carl O'Neil of this city, which was stolen in Indianapolis on October 3, while the Rushville people were attending a theater.

Two men, Merl Horton and Nicholas Lavelle, proprietors of a garage at 1428 East Washington street, confessed to the detectives of being engaged in automobile thieving since September 19, of last year, and when their garage was searched ten other dismantled machines were found, and their ownerships established.

Detectives Rugenstein and Hynes captured the two thieves after several weeks of investigation, and were furnished information by friends of the police department. Horton was arrested after the appearance of the automobile in which he was sitting had excited curiosity, and this machine proved to be the property of Carl O'Neil, of this city.

Mr. O'Neil was notified today that his machine was located, but the insurance company has already paid the claim for the stolen machine. Mr. O'Neil will go to Indianapolis, and will attempt to find out what became of the $100 worth of coats and robes that was left in the machine, while the Rushville people were attending the theater.

The Indianapolis police state that they have located $10,000 worth of stolen machines and a large supply of automobile accessories, which also were said to be stolen property.

Two of the stolen machines were completely equipped and had been disguised by the appropriation of parts taken from other cars. These machines Horton and Lavelle used when stealing cars. As soon as a machine was stolen it was taken at once to the garage, where it was altered beyond recognition.

When stealing a machine, according to the confession, one of the men would drive to the location and wait until his partner had taken the car decided upon. He then would follow the machine, keeping a close lookout to determine whether the theft had been discovered.

Horton and Lavelle are both being held in the city prison at Indianapolis on charges of vehicle taking.

The city council met last night in a special session for the purpose of prorating the amount of money that is to be deposited in the five banking institutions of the city for the next two years. The percent of the city funds is divided among the banks according to the amount of surplus on hand in the banks.

The council met only for the purpose of making the divisions, and will meet in regular session tonight. Several bills and claims were allowed last night, and no business of much importance is expected to come before the meeting tonight.

HIGHER-UPS SAID TO BE IN LIQUOR RING

Congressmen And Government Officials Alleged to be Involved in Million Dollar Business

IS UNCOVERED IN CHICAGO

(By United Press)

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 4.—That two congressmen, several government officials and many prominent men are the backers of a huge bootleggers ring engaged in a million dollar business, was alleged in the confessions of several men under arrest here today.

According to the confessions obtained by the federal prohibition commissioner, Frank Richardson, the two congressmen used their influence in obtaining the release of several thousand barrels of whiskey.

The ring, it was said, operated from Chicago, New York and Jersey City. A complete set of rubber stamps with the signatures of the prohibition commissioner and several prohibition agents were reported uncovered, as was a code which the members of the ring used to communicate with each other. The word "riot" was used in reference to Richardson; "flower" meant distillery and "delay" meant collector of Internal Revenue Harry Maker.

Two of the men under arrest were employed in New York as private detective agents, and papers were found on them which contained the names of the congressmen. Richardson planned to obtain warrants for the arrests of the remainder of the members of the ring today. He laid the facts before United States Attorney Clyne.

FRIENDS CONFIRM MOTHER'S STORY

Courtland B. Nelson and William Long, Here For Abels Funeral, Tell of Fatal Shooting

UNPROVOKED, THEY DECLARE

Say Friends of Dead Boy Are Raising Fund to Attempt to Prosecute Osborn, O., Marshal

Courtland B. Nelson and William Long, of the Wilbur Wright aviation field at Fairland, Ohio, friends of Robert Abels, who was fatally shot last Thursday night at Osborn, Ohio, were here today to attend the funeral of the former Rushville boy.

They both confirmed the account of the shooting as described Monday by the dead boy's mother, Mrs. Nan Lewis of Indianapolis, who was also formerly a resident of this city.

The services for young Abels whose body arrived here Sunday from Xenia, Ohio, where he died last Saturday following an operation on Friday, were held this afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the deceased's aunt, Mrs. Al Robertson, conducted by the Rev. L. E. Brown of the Main Street Christian church. The services were private and interment took place in East Hill cemetery.

Mr. Nelson, who was formerly at the Speedway aviation field near Indianapolis and was transferred to the Wilbur Wright field with a group of Indiana boys, gave his version of the fatal shooting and it corresponds in every respect with that related by Mrs. Lewis on her return here with the body of her son.

Mr. Nelson added some new details to prove further that the attack by William Schneider, marshal of Osborn, was unprovoked, and declared that the chums of young Abels at the air field had demonstrated their affection for him and their desire to see justice done by raising a fund to protect the two companions of Abels with him when he was shot and to prosecute Marshal Schneider.

Proof that young Abels, who carried a 32 calibre revolver in his lower left coat pocket was not in the act of drawing his gun, is found in the fact, according to Mr. Nelson, that the bullet from the Osborn marshal's "forty-five" penetrated the underneath part of Abels' left coat sleeve between the elbow and the hand indicating that he had his hand to his eyes to shield them from the light of the marshal's flashlight, when the marshal shot.

Mr. Nelson said that the bullet did not even scratch Abels' arm, but after penetrating his coat sleeve, it entered his body between the eighth and ninth rib on the left side and struck some of the vital organs.

Both Mr. Nelson and Mr. Long declared that Marshal Schneider had a reputation in Osborn and vicinity for being impetuous and quick-tempered.

Among those from out-of-town who attended the funeral services were Harry Keers, Miss Elizabeth House, Mrs. Charles Doty, Mrs. W. R. Matney, Mrs. Dean Doll and children Robert Franklin and Margaret; Frank Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robertson of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Robertson and Miss Nina Robertson of Kokomo; Mrs. F. Turek and brother, Joseph Abels, of Chicago; and Courtland Nelson and William Long of the aviation repair depot, Fairfield, Ohio.

ROCKS BROUGHT IN AS EVIDENCE

Piled Around Witness Chair in Circuit Court Where John W. Johnson is on Trial

A TRANSACTION IN HOGS

Defendant Denies Placing Rocks Under Seat of Wagon to Cheat Arthur Messick

Eighty-two pounds of rocks were piled around the witness chair today in circuit court, when the case of the state was being continued against John W. Johnson, a farmer living near the Henry county line, who is charged with placing the rocks in his wagon, and cheating Arthur Messick out of the 82 pounds of "pork on foot."

The jury was obtained yesterday after much difficulty and the case began in earnest this morning. Following the prosecuting witness on the stand this morning was Clyde Moffitt a dairyman of Knightstown, who stated that he knew Johnson all his life but did not know Messick until the day when the alleged transaction took place.

He stated that he later went to the Messick farm and saw the 82 pounds of rock, and did not see any other rocks like them on the Messick farm. Moffitt said that he was accompanied by Charley Clark, postmaster of Knightstown, and Marshall Wiggins, a contractor. They also appeared as witnesses.

Jesse Frye, owner of the farm upon which Messick lives, stated that he never saw any rock like the ones on display, on his farm. One witness stated that the defendant had rocks like those, on his farm.

Mrs. Messick stated that on March 8, 1920 she was standing in the back yard of her home, and saw Johnson drive his team up to the side of a pen, near the barn, and throw off one rock, and that later the 82 pounds were found in the bin.

Johnson is charged in a grand jury indictment in two counts, one being for obtaining goods under false pretenses, and the other for petit larceny. The case was expected to reach the jury sometime Wednesday. The state finished up their portion of the evidence shortly before noon, and he defense began, with Johnson taking the stand.

He firmly denied that he placed any rocks in the wagon and he followed the hog transaction step by

SHORT COURSE FOR COUNTY IS PLANNED

Orson Ryan Speaks to Committees This Afternoon, Explained How Plans Should be Perfected

THREE SPEAKERS WILL COME

Orson Ryan, representing a Farmer's Community short course, which will be given in Rushville February 2 and 3, addressed the township committees this afternoon in the court house, laying before them the plans for the coming event. Mr. Ryan stated that the local effort should have to have the co-operation of the entire community, in order to make the meeting a success, and he explained at length the work which will be required of the various committees. Three prominent people, two men and a woman, will be here to take charge of the short course, and it will take a score or more of assistants locally to help out.

Mr. Ryan stated that each of the three people were capable of taking charge of separate meetings, and he suggested to the committee that separate programs should be given the young people, as well as different programs for men and women, with a mass meeting at night of the men and women.

He also outlined the course of study, but insisted upon the local committees making out the program, filling in with the talent which will be furnished by the course.

RESOLUTION IS HELD OVER

Proposal to Appropriate $50,000 For Inauguration Causes Turmoil

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 4.—Request of $50,000 to pay the expenses of the Harding inaugural ceremonies at the capitol today threw the senate into ferment of argument, which at one time threatened to end in eliminating the inaugural ceremonies entirely.

It was suggested that Harding be given 50 cents to pay a notary public for administering the constitutional oath and the inaugural ceremonies be eliminated entirely. After two hours debate the senate failed to decide the amount to spend on the inaugural ceremonies. A resolution appropriating $50,000 as the expense of the ceremonies at the capitol introduced by Senator Knox chairman of the congressional inaugural committee, went over until tomorrow.

A. Worthington, when he resigned the first of the year as chairman of the industries committee of the chamber.

This bureau of the Indianapolis business organization, which has been under the direction of Mr. Green, has assisted seventy new industries in locating in Indianapolis during the year, the report shows. Mr. Worthington pays Mr. Green a very high compliment as follows:

"The report speaks for itself, except that I might add that the excellent results that have been accomplished during this year of business uncertainty, especially the latter half of the year under depressed conditions, reflects much credit upon the ability and capacity of our director of industry, Mr. Myron R. Green, and I think the Chamber is to be congratulated in having an officer of his peculiar qualifications upon its official staff.

WOULD INCREASE SCHOOL STANDARD

Rotary Club Adopts Resolution Endorsing Movement to Get Reasonable Appropriation

FOR AID OF STATE SCHOOLS

Members of Children's Board of Guardians and Salvation Army Guests at Meeting Today

A resolution heartily endorsing the movement now under way "to secure from our legislature such fair and reasonable appropriations for educational purposes as will not only stop our state's present tendency to lower its educational standards, but will eventually place her among the best in the United States, where she properly belongs," was adopted at the regular meeting of the Rotary club today.

The committee which offered the resolution was appointed at the meeting last week with Judge Will M. Sparks as chairman, following an address by Herbert S. King of the Indianapolis Rotary club urging that all Rotary clubs of the state pull together in helping to improve the condition of the state-supported colleges and universities.

Mrs. A. L. Stewart and Mrs. Lila Retherford of the county children's board of guardians and Envoy and Mrs. Frank Gipson of the Salvation Army were also guests of the club today for the purpose of showing the club's appreciation of their assistance in the club's Christmas effort. Mrs. Stewart spoke in behalf of the county board declaring that it was a pleasure for the members of the organization to help. She also outlined what the board of children's guardians has done in the last year on behalf of under-privileged children.

A motion that the Rotary club pledge its support to the members of the board in whatever they undertake, and in the Christmas effort next year was unanimously adopted.

Envoy and Mrs. Gipson both spoke briefly, declaring that the co-operation of other agencies with the Salvation Army in the Christmas work this year had made it the best in the history of Rushville.

Orson Ryan, representing the International Harvester company, outlined the plans for a farmers short course which will be held here February 2 and 3 and urged the support of the Rotary club.

NEW BANKING PLAN MAY CAUSE STRUGGLE

Proposed to Wipe Out Federal Reserve Banks and Establish a Centralized Bank

CURTIS TO OFFER AMENDMENT

(By United Press)

Marion, Ohio, Jan. 4.—A stormy fight early in the Harding administration over a proposal to establish a centralized bank of the United States to take the place of the present federal reserve banks was evident today and it became known that republican leaders are planning to resist attempts to oppose the plan.

Leaders have already sought the opinion of the president on the proposal and plan to make the ground of the centralized bank one of the achievements of the next administration if Harding will consent to the plan.

Indications are that the proposal is being seriously considered here although Harding is following his usual custom of saying nothing until he has studied the reaction of public sentiment.

It is regarded as significant that Senator Curtis republican whip of the senate following a long conference with Harding announced his intentions of offering amendments to the federal reserve bank. These, he said, are designed to wipe out the existing 12 regional banks and a substitute for the general centralized bank with branches located at geographical points.

BUGGY GOES IN THE DITCH

No One Hurt in Accident Near S. R. Newhouse Farm

A serious accident was averted Sunday night, when a closed buggy, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe and two children and Marion Name, went into the ditch near the S. R. Newhouse farm, northwest of Rushville, after it had almost collided with another horse and buggy that was driving along the road slowly. Mr. Monroe was driving a fast horse and his lines became caught, and the horse swung the buggy into the ditch, turning it over on its side, but none of the occupants was hurt, although the side of the buggy was badly damaged. The other buggy was said to be taking up the road, and was not even stopped when the buggy went over the steep embankment.

The Lake Poets.

The Lake Poets, the Lake School, the Lakists, were names given by British critics about the beginning of the past century, to a certain brotherhood of poets, who "haunted for some years about the lakes of Cumberland, England," and who were erroneously thought to have united upon some settled theory or principles of composition and style. Wordsworth, Southey and Coleridge were regarded as the chief representatives of this so-called school, but Lamb, Lloyd and Wilson were also included under the same designation.

The Contrast

Looking forward at the beginning of a new year is a common occurrence in all countries, and as we pursue the age old custom we can not but take note of the contrast between conditions in our country and those beyond the seas.

In our land we have a solid, substantial government, founded upon the guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Over there kings and emperors have been kicked from their thrones, governments have been driven from power, law and order have been substituted by chaos, and hatred and suspicion lurk in the hearts of many.

Here we have education, refinement, health, wealth, prosperity and hope for the future. We are at peace with our neighbors and are not looking for or dodging trouble.

But on the other side all is different.

Practically every foreign government is sitting on the lid of a volcano. Open discord exists everywhere.

Thousands who have lived in luxury in former years are now penniless, many of them uncertain as to the source from whence the next meal is to come.

Those who have seized the wealth of the countries in the overthrow of government are in the main ignorant as to how to turn it to account, or are wasting the substance in riotous living.

Commerce is stagnant and funds are lacking for its resurrection.

Millions are on the verge of starvation or are in the actual throes of dissolution.

Children are perishing in the cold through lack of proper clothing. Destitution and want are everywhere.

Truly, it is good to live in America land of freedom and plenty.

Not Needed Here

It has been frequently said that old dogs can not be taught new tricks, but a Chicago newspaper apparently thinks otherwise.

A reporter for the paper spends each day in traveling about the city accosting all sorts of people, and testing their politeness. He finds means of coming in contact with the clerks in the stores, business men in their offices, public officials on duty, judges, ministers, housewives, and the public generally.

Sometimes he is dressed in fine raiment, and at others he is in rags, but always he is unknown.

To the person who makes the most courteous reply to his inquiries he presents a check entitling the person to fifty dollars. The check is paid by the paper and the polite one gets a writeup in its columns.

Its effect has become marked, even in a city the size of Chicago.

Mr. Harding says he is going to make the vice-presidency an important position. Under the old law of tit for tat we presume Mr. Coolidge will return the courtesy.

Some people are always distressing themselves over the shortcomings of others. They have none of their own.

It is possible now for a publisher to refer to a "pail of suds" without being misunderstood.

Beauty is not always skin deep. It would crack the face.

Article by Tom J. Geraghty
Commented on in The Bookman

Comment on an article by Tom J. Geraghty, formerly of this city, who is now managing director of the Famous-Lasky studio at Long Island City, is contained in the December number of The Bookman. It is as follows:

Some of these days someone ought to write a book upon the invasion of the field of literature by the moving picture, for there has been an invasion and no one can tell what the end will be. It is a common impression nowadays that every author writes with a feeling that the moving-picture director is looking over his shoulder; that he creates his characters with a view to their presentation on the screen; and that the dialogue has no other excuse for being that its use as "cut-ins" between the pictures. This is, of course, an exaggeration; but even if it were true only in part, such a condition would create a tendency among authors to regard literature merely as a means to an end.

The relation of authors to the films is discussed quite frankly by Tom J. Geraghty in a recent issue of "The Authors' League Bulletin." He appeals for original stories for the screen and dangles the purse of Fortunatus before the pen-drivers. "The remuneration—well, it is almost unbelievable." Suitable books bring from five thousand to fifty thousand dollars, but, after all, the prizes go to those who are best equipped. Mr. Geraghty insists that the author shall go straight through one or more productions, observing the details of photographing and preparing titles. This, he says, can never be learned from text-books, nor by viewing pictures in the theatre—not in a million years. Among the authors who are working or who have been working in and around the studios are:

Mary Roberts Rinehart, Basil King, Gouverneur Morris, Winchell Smith, Bayard Veiller, Rupert Hughes, Peter B. Kyne, Zane Grey, Stewart Edward White, Thompson Buchanan, Charles Kenyon, Ernest Wilkes, Beulah Marie Dix, Byron Morgan, F. Condon, Vinetto Blasco Ibanez, Maurice Maeterlinck, Edward Sheldon, Harold Bell Wright, Leroy Scott, Gertrude Atherton.

This is surely an imposing list of names, and it is by no means complete, for the novels of James Oliver Curwood, Owen Johnson, Rex Beach, Booth Tarkington, and a score of others have been visualized for the screen. But if Mr. Geraghty's point of view is correct, the book is to be secondary to the picture. The money is to be for "the man with brains who is willing to stop, look and listen, and if necessary readjust himself"—although what is to be sacrificed in securing readjustment is not made clear—and it is the "successful screen author" who is to name his own figure for his work. The emphasis in this last quotation is, apparently, to be placed upon the word screen, so that it remains for the future to decide whether books are to be written for those who read or for those who only see. A co-operation which will elevate those who only use their eyes into the class of those who also use their brains, is the consummation most devoutly to be wished.

LEGION ASSISTS TO COMBAT CRIME WAVE

In New York Headquarters Offered to Put 5,000 Veterans on Street to Aid Police

500 AIDING IN ST. LOUIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4.—Thousands of members of the American Legion are assisting the police in combating the crime wave which has engulfed the larger cities all over the country, according to reports received at Legion National Headquarters here.

In New York, where the orgy of murder is at its worst, Legion State Headquarters promptly offered to put 5,000 veterans on the streets to aid the police. A number of Legion members have aided in eliminating hold-ups in the shopping district by serving as guards in large retail stores and wholesale houses.

Five hundred Legionnaires in St.
Louis are assisting the police in pattrolling the city and rounding up suspicious characters. St. Paul Legion members have proposed the formation of a network of Legion patrols, each to be communicable with others.

The Legion's activity does not imply an imputation that the police are deficient. Legion leaders have pointed out. Legion members realize that an abnormal situation exists and, in conformity with the American Legion constitution, are preparing to fight for law and order in every city and town where the criminal element has defied the authorities.

DISCUSS SCHOOL FINANCE

Pres. Stone Says Purdue is Over-Loaded With Students

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 4.—"We are capitalized to do a business for 2,000 students but are called on to take care of 3,000 students a year, and even more this year", said
President W. E. Stone of Purdue University in discussing university finances today.

"In the last five years student enrollment has increased 32 percent and the teaching staff only 14 percent. In five years the income has gone up 20 percent, which has not been enough to maintain our current expenses. As a result we have had to give up all our building program and permit our equipment to go down in order to keep what men we could".

COAL CASES NEXT ON
GRAND JURY SCHEDULE

Federal Probers are Expected to Clear Slate of Routine Matters
This Week

MANY INDICTMENTS EXPECTED

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4.—The federal grand jury, sitting here now, is expected to clear the task this week for action on cases involving coal mine operators and mine workers.

Members of the jury came back to work Monday after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, prepared to wind up work on a number of alleged liquor law violations and other routine matters, in order to make a report some time this month, after which they will take up the coal cases.

Five hundred persons were indicted by the jury when L. Ert Slack was United States district attorney and this is taken to mean that the number of indictments this year would be in excess of five hundred.

Fred VanNuy, present district attorney, is preparing to ask a continuation of the government cases against the 125 coal mine owners and officials of the mine union when the cases are called for trial next Monday. The action will be based on the pleas that the grand jury is considering looking into further alleged violations of the Lever law and the Sherman anti-trust law by the coal men.

EDUCATION BOARD MEETS

Trustees Sign Petition Asking Their Terms be Extended

The regular meeting of the county board of education, which is composed of the township trustees of the county, was held late Monday afternoon, but no business of any consequence was transacted. About the only action taken by the board was to allow the claim of the county agricultural agent.

Before the meeting the trustees were asked to sign a petition asking that their terms be extended by the session of the legislature opening Thursday. The petition will be presented to W. R. Jinnett of Manilla, county representative, and R. N.
Hill of Carthage, joint senator. Trustees all over the state are making this request.

MISERLY POLICY
IS A HINDRANCE

Division of Geology Hopes Legislature Will Aid in Further Development of Resources

NO MONEY PROVES DRAWBACK

With no Funds to Publish Reports, Department is Unable Prevent Waste in Oil Drilling
By W. N. LOGAN

(State Geologist For The Department of Conservation)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4.—The division of geology of the state department of conservation hopes that the incoming legislature will aid in the further development of Indiana's mineral resources, and although this division during the first 18 months of its existence, demonstrated its ability to accomplish a large amount of work with a small appropriation, yet it was hampered in its work and was not able to get the results of its investigations before the people of the State on account of the lack of funds for publication.

A miserly policy toward a scientified bureau of a state's government is not to be commended since such a policy often results in great economic losses. To illustrate, while our report on oil and gas was lying in manuscript form waiting for the necessary few hundreds of dollars for its publication, prospective oil wells were being drilled at an expense of thousands of dollars on land which this report showed offered not the slightest promise of oil or gas.

The work undertaken and in contemplation by the division of geology includes:

A complete survey of the coal resources of Indiana; a systematic study of all oil-bearing rocks in Indiana with a view of determining the crude oil content, by products, distribution and availability; to protect the rights of Indiana in the coal underlying the navigable rivers,
the Wabash and the Ohio, a survey should be made to determine the amount of minable coal underlying the Wabash and the Ohio, a survey
State in Sullivan, Knox, and Posey counties and under the Ohio river in Posey, Vanderburgh, Warrish and Spencer counties. The minable coal under the Wabash in Vigo county, belonging to the State, was estimated at nine million tons; A survey of the principal building stone quarrying districts of the state, in order to be of service to one of the state's leading industries. This district produces more than 70 percent of the limestone used in the U. S. for building purposes; A complete survey and laboratory investigation of the ceramic materials of Indiana. Completion of a structural map of the state showing the location of all structures of oil and gas; Investigation of other mineral resources such as peat, marl, cement, materials, lime materials, moulding sands, road materials and mineral waters.

This extensive constructive program cannot be carried out unless the funds are available for meeting the necessary expenses of such investigations, and such funds should be provided.

In order to strengthen the position of the Conservation Department in conserving and developing the natural resources of the state it is hoped that the legislature will consider laws as follows:

Providing for a topographic survey of Indiana in cooperation with the U. S. Geological Survey and appropriating the necessary funds;
act to strengthen the position of the Conservation more easily to recover coal under streams, defining boundaries, methods of procedure, establishing royalties, etc., act to prevent the destruction of good agricultural land by the indiscriminate stripping of coal; defining methods of procedure prescribing penalties etc.; act requiring manufacturers utilizing the natural resources of the state to make yearly reports containing statistics on production etc.; to the Dept. of Conservation;
act to strengthen the position of the Dept. in its regulation requiring that all records of deep wells be furnished the Division of Geology within 30 days after the completion of the well.

ASK MEN TO RETURN TO

Mahonley Stationery Co. of Kansas City Moves Against Unions and Employees Stay at Home

LOCKOUT IN FORM OF LETTER

Kansas, City, Mo., Jan. 4.—The first move on the part of Kansas City employers to make this city an open shop town came Monday when the Mahonley Stationery Company informed its printers that they were entitled to the job as American citizens but are not if members of the international Typographical union.

The lockout came in the form of a letter to the employees. The men left their work Friday night to return for the New Year today. Saturday special delivery letters were mailed to all employees. The gist of these letters read:

"Americans always will be employed by the Mahonley stationery Company, therefore beginning Monday morning January 3, only American citizens will be employed in the concern. If you wish to return to work as Americans and not as union men, your job awaits you".

None of the employees appeared for work. Only a policeman paraded in front of the concern.

the treatment and has felt entirely well since." It is a simple, harmless

The Solution of Your Health Problems

The Health Problem is as old as the hills. For centuries men and women have been endeavoring to solve it. Drugs, Osteopathy, Electricity, Surgery have all been tried and found of little avail because they have paid too much attention to the effect and have neglected the cause. Chiropractic has solved the problem. This Science, as practiced by competent Chiropractors, ascertains the Cause and proceeds at once to adjust it. Once the Cause is taken care of, the trouble disappears, Nature gets in her work and Health is the result. Thousands of men and women all over the country have reason to bless the day that Chiropractic was discovered.

Bigotry and its tragic result is effectively told in "Mixed Marriage", by St. John Ervine, presented here at the Bramhall Playhouse. This early composition by the author of "John Ferguson" and "Susan Clegg", was presented here some nine years ago by a company of Irish players, and, while not so good as Ervine's latest works, it is not without dramatic value.

The story is that of Irish life and is especially timely just now. The central figure is a Protestant, a labor leader, and the head of a family of four, whose bigotry makes him a virtual fanatic. As neighbors and fellow-workers it would seem to the interests of the characters to join forces, but religious differences hold them apart. The wooing of a Catholic girl by his son enrages the Protestant father, who had softened somewhat in his narrow mindedness and had been working on a reconciliation of strikers of both faiths. He undoes all the good he had wrought and when troops are called to quell the unruly mob, the girl, who feels that she has been the cause, rushes out to stop the firing of the troops and is killed. The father remains unrelenting to the end.

The story is not a pleasant one, but it is unfolded in language which touches the heart by its simple eloquence. Scattered here and there are occasional moments of sparklingly humorous dialogue and Ervine's deft handling of his subject makes it very evident that he knows the people with whom he is dealing. Margaret Wycherly plays the part of the boy's mother and one cannot watch her beautiful portrayal of the patient, tolerant, understanding creature without a thrill of sympathy. Augustin Duncan, remembered for his work in "John Ferguson", has admirably grasped the idea of the intolerant father and gives an impressive performance, while Angela McCahill and Rollo Peters as the lovers, lend admirable support.

Mitzi Returns To New York

"Lady Billy" and "Mixed Marriage" Lates Premiere

New York, Jan. 4.—Tiny Mitzi Hajos is still the incomparable Mitzi. She has taken on a few ounces since her last appearance here and now must weigh all of eighty pounds. This fascinating, versatile star reappeared here at the Liberty Theatre in "Miss Billy", a tailor-made vehicle, with book and lyrics by Miss Zelda Sears and music by a hitherto unknown protegee of Victor Herbert's Composer Harold Levey will be popular enough 'ere Mitzi fits from these parts on tour. The piece is sparkling with humor and the music will undoubtedly be pounded into the public's ears via phonographs and dance orchestras before the season is much older.

Mitzi portrays a bankrupt Roumanian countess, who poses as a boy and is thus discovered by an American engineer-tourist, who prevails upon the "lad" to accompany him to America to make a fortune as a boy soprano. The first act is laid in Rumania and the balance of the action takes place in New York's Greenwich Village section. Of course, everybody but the hero knows that Mitzi is not a boy and the third act is devoted to breaking the news to him. The best part of the whole business is that Mitzi must romp through two whole acts clad in knickerbockers, which she certainly becomes.

Mitzi sings and dances as charmingly as ever, and is exceedingly "easy to look at". Her mere appearance on the stage provoked an ovation which was intensified after her brilliant performance. Boyd Marshall as the American hero, acts in an agreeable and manly style, is an excellent singer—and is Mr. Mitzi in private life. Here's domestic concord! Sydney Greenstreet, as a butler, deserves mention, and his song, "The Worm's Revenge", brought him forth for many encores on opening night. The chorus can really sing and dance and those in minor roles fill them most capably.

It is feared that road cities will be compelled to wait some time for Mitzi. Her ours have created for her a large following and her appearance in the West and South is to be eagerly looked forward to.

200 PASSENGERS MISSING
Madrid, Spain, Jan. 4.—Two hundred passengers of the Spanish steamer Santa Isabel are missing, according to the latest report from the scene of the wreck along the Portuguese coast. Only forty-five are known to have been saved. The vessel went ashore when defective engines prevented the officers from keeping her on the water.

Scarfs Assume New Duties

IT IS a far cry from the misty scarfs of malines worn with evening dress to those of shaggy wool for outdoors and winter time, but all scarfs appear to have assumed new responsibilities. Some of them, made of heavy angora wool are something more than simple scarfs, and rival sweaters and sweater coats, being provided with pockets, sashes, buttoned girdles, ornamental borders, and traveling nearly always in the company of tams to match them. They come in many colors and color combinations, and are usually finished off with yarn fringes.

The school girl and the tourist find these new scarfs a joy—just suited to their needs. Two misses, on their way to or from the halls of learning, are outfitted with scarfs and tams, with much satisfaction, according to the picture. Wide and enveloping as these scarfs are, they are not as wide as some of those on display in the shops. One of them, at the left, is a plain, dark tan model with sash attached to one edge of the scarf at the back and looped over at the front. Knotted fringe exactly matches it and the tam is made of the same material as the scarf, with a pompon of wool like the fringe.

The scarf at the right has a wide border in a checker board pattern, which turns back to form a practical collar and a belt that buttons across the front.

Sometimes two lengths of angora wool are used to form a garment that stands between a scarf and a coat, and by this means is extended below the waistline at the back. But the scarfs pictured protect the body where it is most sensitive to cold and they are easier to make. The scarfs with tams to match are scoring a triumph as Christmas gifts for young women and without the tam, for others.

STUDY PEOPLE IN JEWELRY STORE

Wm. Barthman States Can Forecast Married Life When Couple Buys Engagement Ring

CITES FEW INCIDENTS
States Expected Slump in Jewelry Sales Looked For Long Ago Has Not Become Apparent

New York, Jan. 3.—There is no business that furnishes a better opportunity to study human psychology than that of selling jewelry, according to William Barthman who for more than a quarter of a century has had a shop in Maiden Lane, the diamond center of America.

"One can invariably forecast the married life of a couple by their attitude when they come in to buy the engagement ring," he said today.

"It is easy to tell which will dominate after the wedding ceremony from their actions during the purchase. If she makes the selection and fixes the price, you may depend upon it that she will make most of the decisions after they are married, and vice versa. It is also possible to tell whether she will be thrifty or a spendthrift."

Barthman cited an instance of a young couple who came in to buy a diamond solitaire. The youth very delicately let his sweetheart understand that he did not feel able to pay more than $400 or $500. But every ring she decided upon was valued at $1,200 to $1,500. They finally compromised on one costing about $900, about twice what he had intended to pay.

"And if I had been that young man I would have been tempted to call it off right here," the grey-haired jeweler declared.

Barthman was asked how the average young man determines the size of the engagement ring.

"Well, a few of them bring their finances right in to try it on," he replied. "Some obtain from us a cardboard arrangement to fix the size. Others knot a string about her finger or try one of the rings she already has on one of their fingers. But the great majority just guess at it—and usually guess wrong. Most of those who guess select a ring too large, probably assuming they will be on the safe side when it comes to readjusting it. But it is just as easy to make a ring larger as it is to make it smaller."

What does the average young man buy his sweetheart, in the way of jewelry, and what does the average married man buy his wife?

Barthman said that gold or silver meshbags are the most popular gift during the courtship period, with gold bracelets and pearl opera glasses running a close second. After marriage, the woman usually demands a pearl necklace or a diamond and platinum bracelet, and gets it.

Gifts for children are generally in the form of a ring, bracelet or pin. When women make gifts to men they generally select a scarf pin or a gold fountain pen.

"It's interesting to watch the development of a young couple's courtship and marriage," Barthman said. "A young man will come in and buy some small present, such as a brooch, costing $15 or $20. A few months later he will make a little more expensive gift. Then, as birthdays and Christmases arrive, he increases the value of his gifts until finally the engagement ring is bought. Next is the wedding ring. After this there is a cessation of three or four years. They are spending all their money furnishing a home and making a start. If he is successful in business, this period will be followed by one of far more expensive presents."

Barthman said the expected slump in jewelry sales, looked for long ago, had not yet become apparent.

DISGUISED AS A PEASANT

Reports Received of DeValera's Landing in Ireland

Dublin, Ireland, Jan. 4.—A manifesto from President DeValera was reported to be in conference with the intercircle of Sinn Feiners.

Reports here said that the president landed in Ireland disguised as a peasant. He is said to have hobbled into a town on the west coast leaning on a staff and wearily shaking a head groomed with silver grey hair.

Two Sinn Feiners who resisted arrest in the County Limerick were killed by police it was reported today.

CARRIER PIGEONS GAIN HIGH HONORS

Feathered Fighters Are Today Members of The Enlisted Personnel Of The U. S. Army

SEAPLANES CARRY PIGEONS

During Last Ten Months U. S. Naval Pigeons Delivered 219 Messages From Seaplanes

Washington, Jan. 3.—Feathered fighters, a product of the world war, are now meeting true appreciation of their gallantry. The American carrier pigeon, his service stripes earned by "conspicuous bravery," is today virtually a member of the enlisted personnel of the United States Navy.

All naval aviation pigeons are being registered today on the air-station muster in a manner similar to that employed in keeping the record of the personnel attached to the station. Every bird has his number.

As a recent navy order requires that all seaplanes, while in flight, must carry pigeons abroad, no details are overlooked in giving the birds the attention that their position warrants. It is no easy matter either, for a pigeon to break into the exclusive class of enlisted fighters. Not only must these air birds show a high degree of efficiency, after a period of training, but they must have attained a certain air of maturity. Young birds, for instance, are not allowed on the muster sheet until their legs have grown large enough to hold the band number of the naval air station to which they are attached.

Figures compiled by the Navy Department show that during the last ten months of the war, United States naval pigeons delivered 219 messages from seaplanes forced to land at sea. These planes were without any other means of communication and credit is given the pigeons for saving both men and machines. Many instances have been incurred where pigeons operating on the Atlantic seaboard have been instrumental in delivering messages requesting spare parts for disabled planes.

Recently at Pensacola, Fla., thirty-three birds were used by air-planes in delivering messages. The pigeons covered 700 miles, with an average speed of 32 miles an hour.

Amusements

Replete With Scenic Beauty

Maurice Tourneur's latest offering, "Deep Waters", is a photoplay replete with scenic beauty, true characterizations, and more than ordinary interest with its rugged folks of the New England coast, played against a background of marine beauty.

"Deep Waters" was shown at the Princess last night and will be repeated again today, and the picture is said to be the most absorbing that has been shown here for some weeks. This tale is not only unique, but it is so true to life that it never fails to interest. The action commences at a fashionable dinner in a big city; sweeps the beholder up to the New England coast, then back again. Returning to the seashore, it takes one in breathless bounds out over the waves to a rocky point where a light house is being erected. The deep sea divers, the cranes with their loads of rock, and the many scenes of activity, make it a doubly interesting screen offering. It is a Paramount.

"Moon Madness", Mystic

It is rarely that a story finds its way to the screen which contains all the elements necessary to the successful photoplay—plot, good acting, excellent photography. Such a play, however, is "Moon Madness", the Haworth production, which opened at the Mystic Theatre yesterday for a run of two days. The players include Edith Storey and an all-star cast.

"Moon Madness", has for its main theme, the romance of youth.

RUSHVILLE MAN RECOVERS AUTO

Machine Belonging to Carl O'Neil,
Stolen in Indianapolis Oct. 3,
Is One of 11 Found

TWO MEN HAVE CONFESSED

Mr. O'Neil Has Been Paid by Insurance Company But Still is Loser
$100 in Coats and Robes

Indianapolis detectives, working on a clue concerning stolen automobiles, yesterday located the new machine belonging to Carl O'Neil of this city, which was stolen in Indianapolis on October 3, while the Rushville people were attending a theater.

Two men, Merl Horton and Nicholas Lavelle, proprietors of a garage at 1428 East Washington street, confessed to the detectives of being engaged in automobile thieving since September 19, of last year, and when their garage was searched ten other dismantled machines were found, and their ownerships established.

Detectives Rugenstein and Hynes captured the two thieves after several weeks of investigation, and were furnished information by friends of the police department. Horton was arrested after the appearance of the automobile in which he was sitting had excited curiosity, and this machine proved to be the property of Carl O'Neil, of this city.

Mr. O'Neil was notified today that his machine was located, but the insurance company has already paid the claim for the stolen machine. Mr. O'Neil will go to Indianapolis, and will attempt to find out what became of the $100 worth of coats and robes that was left in the machine, while the Rushville people were attending the theater.

The Indianapolis police state that they have located $10,000 worth of stolen machines and a large supply of automobile accessories, which also were said to be stolen property.

Two of the stolen machines were completely equipped and had been disguised by the appropriation of parts taken from other cars. These machines Horton and Lavelle used when stealing cars. As soon as a machine was stolen it was taken at once to the garage, where it was altered beyond recognition.

When stealing a machine, according to the confession, one of the men would drive to the location and wait until his partner had taken the car decided upon. He then would follow the machine, keeping a close lookout to determine whether the theft had been discovered.

Horton and Lavelle are both being held in the city prison at Indianapolis on charges of vehicle taking.

The are travelling an uninhabited section of territory between Mattie and Moose, Factory where they found shelter after their balloons came down December 13 and a severe blizzard again may put their lives in danger.

HIGHER-UPS SAID TO BE IN LIQUOR RING

Congressmen And Government Officials Alleged to be Involved in Million Dollar Business

IS UNCOVERED IN CHICAGO

(By United Press)
Chicago, Ill., Jan. 4.—That two congressmen, several government officials and many prominent men are the backers of a huge bootleggers ring engaged in a million dollar business, was alleged in the confessions of several men under arrest here today.

According to the confessions obtained by the federal prohibition commissioner, Frank Richardson, the two congressmen used their influence in obtaining the release of several thousand barrels of whiskey.

The ring, it was said, operated from Chicago, New York and Jersey City. A complete set of rubbers stamps with the signatures of the prohibition commissioner and several prohibition agents were reported uncovered, as was a code which the members of the ring used to communicate with each other. The word "riot" was used in reference to Richardson; "flower" meant distillery and "delay" meant collector of Internal Revenue Harry Maker.

Two of the men under arrest were employed in New York as private detective agents, and papers were found on them which contained the names of the congressmen, Richardson planned to obtain warrants for the arrests of the remainder of the members of the ring today. He laid the facts before United States Attorney Clynne.

FRIENDS CONFIRM MOTHER'S STORY

Courtland B. Nelson and William Long, Here For Abels Funeral, Tell of Fatal Shooting

UNPROVOKED, THEY DECLARE

Say Friends of Dead Boy Are Raising Fund to Attempt to Prosecute Osborn, O., Marshal

Courtland B. Nelson and William Long, of the Wilbur Wright aviation field at Fairland, Ohio, friends of Robert Abels, who was fatally shot last Thursday night at Osborn, Ohio, were here today to attend the funeral of the former Rushville boy.

They both confirmed the account of the shooting as described Monday by the dead boy's mother, Mrs. Nina Lewis of Indianapolis, who was also formerly a resident of this city.

The services for young Abels whose body arrived here Sunday from Xenia, Ohio, where he died last Saturday following an operation on Friday, were held this afternoon at two o'clock at the home of the deceased's aunt, Mrs. Al Robertson, conducted by the Rev. L. E. Brown of the Main Street Christian church. The services were private and intimate took place in East Hill cemetery.

Mr. Nelson, who was formerly at the Speedway aviation field near Indianapolis and was transferred to the Wilbur Wright field with a group of Indiana boys, gave his version of the fatal shooting and it corresponds in every respect with that related by Mrs. Lewis on her return here with the body of her son.

Mr. Nelson added some new details to prove further that the attack by William Schneider, marshal of Osborn, was unprovoked, and declared that the chums of young Abels at the air field had demonstrated their affection for him and their desire to see justice done by raising a fund to protect the two companions of Abels with him when he was shot and to prosecute Marshal Schneider.

Proof that young Abels, who carried a 32 calibre revolver in his lower left coat pocket was not in the act of drawing his gun, is found in the fact, according to Mr. Nelson, that the bullet from the Osborn marshal's "forty-five" penetrated the underneath part of Abels' left coat sleeve between the elbow and the hand indicating that he had his hand to his eyes to shield them from the light of the marshal's flashlight when the marshal shot.

Mr. Nelson said that the bullet did not even scratch Abels' arm, but after penetrating his coat sleeve, it entered his body between the eighth and ninth ribs on the left side and struck some of the vital organs.

Both Mr. Nelson and Mr. Long declared that Marshal Schneider had a reputation in Osborn and vicinity for being impetuous and quick-tempered.

Among those from out-of-town who attended the funeral services were Harry Keers, Miss Elizabeth House, Mrs. Charles Doty, Mrs. W. R. Matney, Mrs. Dean Doll and children Robert Franklin and Margaret; Frank Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Robertson of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Earl A. Robertson and Miss Nina Robertson of Kokomo; Mrs. F. Turek and brother, Joseph Abels, of Chicago; and Courtland Nelson and William Long of the aviation repair depot, Fairfield, Ohio.

ROCKS BROUGHT IN AS EVIDENCE

Piled Around Witness Chair in Circuit Court Where John W. Johnson is on Trial

A TRANSACTION IN HOGS

Defendant Denies Placing Rocks Under Seat of Wagon to Cheat Arthur Messick

Eighty-two pounds of rocks were piled around the witness chair today in circuit court, when the case of the state was being continued against John W. Johnson, a farmer living near the Henry county line, who is charged with placing the rocks in his wagon, and cheating Arthur Messick out of the 82 pounds of "pork on foot."

The jury was obtained yesterday after much difficulty and the case began in earnest this morning. Following the prosecuting witness on the stand this morning was Clyde Moffitt a dairyman of Knightstown, who stated that he knew Johnson all his life but did not know Messick until the day when the alleged transaction took place.

He stated that he later went to the Messick farm and saw the 92 pounds of rock, and did not see any other rocks like them on the Messick farm. Moffitt said that he was accompanied by Charley Clark, postmaster of Knightstown, and Marshall Wiggins, a contractor. They also appeared as witnesses.

Jesse Frye, owner of the farm upon which Messick lives, stated that he never saw any rock like the ones on display, on his farm. One witness stated that the defendant had rocks like those, on his farm.

Mrs. Messick stated that on March 8, 1920 she was standing in the back yard of her home, and saw Johnson drive his team up to the side of a pen, near the barn, and throw off one rock, and that later the 82 pounds were found in the bin.

Johnson is charged in a grand jury indictment in two counts, one being for obtaining goods under false pretenses, and the other, for petit larceny. The case was expected to reach the jury sometime Wednesday. The state finished up their portion of the evidence shortly before noon, and he defense began, with Johnson taking the stand.

He firmly denied that he placed any rocks in the wagon and he followed the hog transaction step by step.

SHORT COURSE FOR COUNTY IS PLANNED

Orson Ryan Speaks to Committees
This Afternoon, Explained How Plans Should be Perfected

THREE SPEAKERS WILL COME

Orson Ryan, representing a Farmer's Community short course, which will be given in Rushville February 2 and 3, addressed the township committees this afternoon in the court house, laying before them the plans for the coming event. Mr. Ryan stated that the local effort should have to have the co-operation of the entire community, in order to make the meeting a success, and he explained at length the work which will be required of the various committees. Three prominent people, two men and a woman, will be here to take charge of the short course, and it will take a score or more of assistants locally to help out.

Mr. Ryan stated that each of the three people were capable of taking charge of separate meetings, and he suggested to the committee that separate programs should be given the young people, as well as different programs for men and women, with a mass meeting at night of the men and women.

RESOLUTION IS HELD OVER

Proposal to Appropriate $50,000 For Inauguration Causes Turmoil

(By United Press)
Washington, Jan. 4.—Request of $50,000 to pay the expenses of the Harding inaugural ceremonies at the capitol today threw the senate into ferment of argument, which at one time threatened to end in eliminating the inaugural ceremonies entirely.

It was suggested that Harding be given 50 cents to pay a notary public for administering the constitutional oath and the inaugural ceremonies be eliminated entirely.

After two hours debate the senate failed to decide the amount to spend on the inaugural ceremonies. A resolution appropriating $50,000 as the expense of the ceremonies at the capitol introduced by Senator Knox chairman of the congressional inaugural committee, went over until tomorrow.

MYRON R. GREEN GETS PRAISE FOR EFFORTS

Former Rushville Man, Now Indianapolis C. of C. Director of Industries, Complimented

LOCATED 70 NEW INDUSTRIES

Myron R. Green, formerly of this city, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Green, is highly praised for his work as director of industry of the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce in the report of B. A. Worthington, when he resigned the first of the year as chairman of the industries committee of the chamber.

This bureau of the Indianapolis business organization, which has been under the direction of Mr. Green, has assisted seventy new industries in locating in Indianapolis during the year, the report shows. Mr. Worthington pays Mr. Green a very high compliment as follows:

"The report speaks for itself, except that I might add that the excellent results that have been accomplished during this year of business uncertainty, especially the latter half of the year under depressed conditions, reflects much credit upon the ability and capacity of our director of industry, Mr. Myron R. Green, and I think the Chamber is to be congratulated in having an officer of his peculiar qualifications upon its official staff."

WOULD INCREASE SCHOOL STANDARD

FOR AID OF STATE SCHOOLS

Members of Children's Board of Guardians and Salvation Army Guests at Meeting Today

A resolution heartily endorsing the movement now under way "to secure from our legislature such fair and reasonable appropriations for educational purposes as will not only stop our state's present tendency to lower its educational standards, but will eventually place her among the best in the United States, where she properly belongs," was adopted at the regular meeting of the Rotary club today.

The committee which offered the resolution was appointed at the meeting last week with Judge Will M. Sparks as chairman, following an address by Herbert S. King of the Indianapolis Rotary club urging that all Rotary clubs of the state pull together in helping to improve the condition of the state-supported colleges and universities.

Mrs. A. L. Stewart and Mrs. Lila Retherford of the county children's board of guardians and Envoy and Mrs. Frank Gipson of the Salvation Army were also guests of the club today for the purpose of showing the club's appreciation of their assistance in the club's Christmas effort. Mrs. Stewart spoke in behalf of the county board declaring that it was a pleasure for the members of the organization to help. She also outlined what the board of children's guardians has done in the last year on behalf of under-privileged children.

A motion that the Rotary club pledge its support to the members of the board in whatever they undertake, and in the Christmas effort next year was unanimously adopted.

Envoy and Mrs. Gipson both spoke briefly, declaring that the co-operation of other agencies with the Salvation Army in the Christmas work this year had made it the best in the history of Rushville.

Orson Ryan, representing the International Harvester company, outlined the plans for a farmers' short course which will be held here February 2 and 3 and urged the support of the Rotary club.

NEW BANKING PLAN MAY CAUSE STRUGGLE

CURTIS TO OFFER AMENDMENT

(By United Press)
Marion, Ohio, Jan. 4.—A stormy fight early in the Harding administration over a proposal to establish a centralized bank of the United States to take the place of the present federal reserve banks was evident today and it became known that republican leaders are planning to resist attempts to oppose the plan. Leaders have already sought the opinion of the president on the proposal and plan to make the ground of the centralized bank one of the achievements of the next administration if Harding will consent to the plan.

Indications are that the proposal is being seriously considered here although Harding is following his usual custom of saying nothing until he has studied the reaction of public sentiment.

It is regarded as significant that Senator Curtis republican whip of the senate following a long conference with Harding announced his intentions of offering amendments to the federal reserve bank. These, he said, are designed to wipe out the existing 12 regional banks and a substitute for the general centralized bank with branches located at geographical points.

WILL HUNT PLANTS IN AMAZON VALLEY

New Species of Reptiles, Fishes and Insects Also to be Sought by Party of Chemists

TO STUDY HABITS OF NATIVES

Elaborate Preparations Have Been Made For Exhaustive Study of The Plants and Drugs

(By United Press)

Philadelphia, Jan. 4.—A party of chemists and scientists, headed by Dr. H. H. Rusby, dean of the school of pharmacy at Columbia-University will sail shortly for a scientific expedition of the Amazon Valley, in a quest for new plants and drugs of medical value. A government expert in entomology, an authority on ichthyology from the University of Indiana and experts from other institutions will accompany the expedition, which is expected to last a year. New species of reptiles, fishes and insects will be sought by the party, which is being financed by H. K. Mulford Co., manufacturing and biological chemists here.

The general route will be the country along the base of the Andes from Villavieja, southeast of Bogota, to Calabar several hundred miles south. Here land travels will be abandoned for the descent of the Unas river. On reaching the Rio Negro, the party will descend to its mouth at the Amazon, and ascend the Maderia, the largest southern tributary of the ## Amazon river. Frequent stops will be made and collections of plants and drugs taken in the mountains.

While the primary object of the expedition will be the search for new drugs and plants, and their study, special attention will be paid habits of natives expected to be encountered there, snake poisons, and particularly the manufacture of blown gun and arrow poisons. A very superior quality of rubber said to flourish there will be closely examined and specimens taken by specialists on that subject.

Elaborate preparations have been made for an exhaustive study of the plants and drugs. According to present plans, Dr. Rusby will classify botanically all collections. Microscopical study will be made by Professor Ballard of Columbia, Schneider of Nebraska and Newcomb of Minnesota. Professors Arny of Columbia, Jordan of Purdue, and Sayre and Havenhill of Kansas will ascertain chemical values. Physiological and medicinal properties will occupy the attention of medical men from Yale, Harvard and other large colleges.

As six months are expected to be spent in sections entirely isolated from civilization, an ample supply of food and medicine will be taken along. Quinine in bismuth form will be an important item, as this alkaloid is said to offset malarial fever. While intending to bag only such game as comes within easy reach, the party will be well armed to guard against possible native hostility. Aborigines at Calabar and along the Unas are reported to have shown marked hostility toward the whites.

BUGGY GOES IN THE DITCH

No One Hurt in Accident Near S. R. Newhouse Farm

A serious accident was averted Sunday night, when a closed buggy, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe and two children and Marion Name, went into the ditch near the S. R. Newhouse farm, northwest of Rushville, after it had almost collided with another horse and buggy that was driving along the road slowly. Mr. Monroe was driving a fast horse and his lines became caught, and the horse swung the buggy into the ditch, turning it over on its side, but none of the occupants was hurt, although the side of the buggy was badly damaged. The other buggy was said to be taking up the road, and was not even stopped when the buggy went over the steep embankment.

"Ice Caves"
The walls of caves often become cooled to such a point in winter or during the frosty nights of spring and fall that the percolating waters freeze. The most celebrated ice cave in the world is that of Dobschall in Hungary, situated in the Carpathians, at an elevation of about 2,700 feet.

The Lake Poets
The Lake Poets, the Lake School, the Lakists, were names given by British critics about the beginning of the past century to a certain brotherhood of poets who "haunted for some years about the lakes of Cumberland, England," and who were erroneously thought to have united upon some sacred theory or principles of composition and style. Wordsworth, Southey, and Coleridge were regarded as the chief representatives of this so-called school, but Lamb, Lloyd and Wilson were also included under the same designation.

The Contrast

Looking forward at the beginning of a new year is a common occurrence in all countries, and as we pursue the age old custom we can not but take note of the contrast between conditions in our country and those beyond the seas.

In our land we have a solid, substantial government, founded upon the guarantee of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Over there kings and emperors have been kicked from their thrones, governments have been driven from power, law and order have been substituted by chaos, and hatred and suspicion lurk in the hearts of many.

But on the other side all is different. Practically every foreign government is sitting on the lid of a volcano. Open discord exists everywhere.

Thousands who have lived in luxury in former years are now penniless, many of them uncertain as to the source from whence the next meal is to come.

Those who have seized the wealth of the countries in the overthrow of government are in the main ignorant as to how to turn it to account, or are wasting the substance in riotous living.

Commerce is stagnant and funds are lacking for its resuscitation. Millions are on the verge of starvation or are in the actual throes of dissolution.

Children are perishing in the cold through lack of proper clothing. Destitution and want are everywhere.

Truly, it is good to live in America land of freedom and plenty.

Not Needed Here

It has been frequently said that old dogs can not be taught new tricks, but a Chicago newspaper apparently thinks otherwise.

A reporter for the paper spends each day in traveling about the city accosting all sorts of people, and testing their politeness. He finds means of coming in contact with the clerks in the stores, business men in their offices, public officials on duty, judges, ministers, housewives, and the public generally.

Sometimes he is dressed in fine raiment, and at others he is in rags, but always he is unknown.

To the person who makes the most courteous reply to his inquiries he presents a check entitling the person to fifty dollars. The check is paid by the paper and the polite one gets a writeup in its columns.

Its effect has become marked, even in a city the size of Chicago.

Mr. Harding says he is going to make the vice-presidency an important position. Under the old law of fit for tat we presume Mr. Coolidge will return the courtesy.

Some people are always distressing themselves over the shortcomings of others. They have none of their own.

It is possible now for a publisher to refer to a "pail of suds" without being misunderstood.

Beauty is not always skin deep. It would crack the face.

Article by Tom J. Geraghty
Commented on in The Bookman

Comment on an article by Tom J. Geraghty, formerly of this city, who is now managing director of the Famous-Lasky studio at Long Island City, is contained in the December number of The Bookman. It is as follows:

Some of these days someone ought to write a book upon the invasion of the field of literature by the moving picture, for there has been an invasion and no one can tell what the end will be. It is a common impression nowadays that every author writes with a feeling that the moving-picture director is looking over his shoulder; that he creates his characters with a view to their presentation on the screen; and that the dialogue has no other excuse for being that its use as "cut-ins" between the pictures. This is, of course, an exaggeration; but even if it were true only in part, such a condition would create a tendency among authors, to regard literature merely as a means to an end.

The relation of authors to the films is discussed quite frankly by Tom J. Geraghty in a recent issue of "The Authors' League Bulletin." He appeals for original stories for the screen and dangles the purse of Fortunatus before the pen-drivers. "The remuneration—well, it is almost unbelievable." Suitable books bring from five thousand to fifty thousand dollars, but, after all, the prizes go to those who are best equipped. Mr. Geraghty insists that the author shall go straight through one or more productions, observing the details of photographing and preparing titles. This, he says, can never be learned from text-books, nor by viewing pictures in the theatre—not in a million years. Among the authors who are working or who have been working in and around the studios are:

Mary Roberts Rinehart, Basil King, Gouverneur Morris, Winchell Smith, Bayard Veiller, Rupert Hughes, Peter B. Kyne, Zane Grey, Stewart Edward White, Thompson Buchanan, Charles Kenyon, Ernest Wilkes, Beulah Marie Dix, Byron Morgan, F. Condon, Vinceto Blasco Ibanez, Maurice Maeterlinck, Edward Sheldon, Harold Bell Wright, Leroy Scott, Gertrude Atherton.

This is surely an imposing list of names, and it is by no means complete, for the novels of James Oliver Curwood, Owen Johnson, Rex Beach, Booth Tarkington, and a score of others have been visualized for the screen. But if Mr. Geraghty's point of view is correct, the book is to be secondary to the picture. The money is to be for "the man with brains who is willing to stop, look and listen, and if necessary readjust himself"—although what is to be sacrificed in securing readjustment is not made clear—and it is the "successful screen author" who is to name his own figure for his work. The emphasis in this last quotation is, apparently, to be placed upon the word screen, so that it remains for the future to decide whether books are to be written for those who read or for those who only see. A co-operation which will elevate those who only use their eyes into the class of those who also use their brains, is the consummation most devoutly to be wished.

LEGION ASSISTS TO COMBAT CRIME WAVE

In New York-Headquarters Offered to Put 5,000 Veterans on Street to Aid Police

500 AIDING IN ST. LOUIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4.—Thousands of members of the American Legion are assisting the police in combatting the crime wave which has engulfed the larger cities all over the country, according to reports received at Legion National Headquarters here.

In New York, where the orgy of murder is at its worst, Legion State Headquarters promptly offered to put 5,000 veterans on the streets to aid the police. A number of Legion members have aided in eliminating hold-ups in the shopping district by serving as guards in large retail stores and wholesale houses.

Five hundred Legionnaires in St. Louis are assisting the police in patrolling the city and rounding up suspicious characters. St. Paul Legion members have proposed the formation of a network of Legion patrols, each to be communicable with others.

The Legion's activity does not imply an imputation that the police are deficient. Legion leaders have pointed out. Legion members realize that an abnormal situation exists and, in conformity with the American Legion constitution, are preparing to fight for law and order in every city and town where the criminal element has defied the authorities.

DISCUSS SCHOOL FINANCE

Pres. Stone Says Purdue is Over-Loaded With Students

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 4.—"We are capitalized to do a business for 2,000 students but are called on to take care of 3,000 students a year, and even more this year," said President W. E. Stone of Purdue University in discussing university finances today.

"In the last five years student enrollment has increased 32 percent and the teaching staff only 14 percent. In five years the income has gone up 20 percent, which has not been enough to maintain our current expenses. As a result we have had to give up all our building program and permit our equipment to go down in order to keep what men we could."

COAL CASES NEXT ON GRAND JURY SCHEDULE

Federal Probers are Expected to Clear Slate of Routine Matters This Week

MANY INDICTMENTS EXPECTED

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4.—The federal grand jury, sitting here now, is expected to clear the task this week for action on cases involving coal mine operators and mine workers.

Members of the jury came back to work Monday after the Christmas and New Year's holidays, prepared to wind up work on a number of alleged liquor law violations and other routine matters in order to make a report some time this month, after which they will take up the coal cases.

Five hundred persons were indicted by the jury when L. Bert Slack was United States district attorney, and this is taken to mean that the number of indictments this year would be in excess of five hundred.

Fred VanNuy, present district attorney, is preparing to ask a continuation of the government cases against the 125 coal mine owners and officials of the mine union when the cases are called for trial next Monday. The action will be based on the plea that the grand jury is considering looking into further alleged violations of the Lever law and the Sherman anti-trust law by the coal men.

EDUCATION BOARD MEETS

Trustees Sign Petition Asking Their Terms be Extended

The regular meeting of the county board of education, which is composed of the township trustees of the county, was held late Monday afternoon, but no business of any consequence was transacted. About the only action taken by the board was to allow the claim of the county agricultural agent.

Before the meeting the trustees were asked to sign a petition asking that their terms be extended by the session of the legislature opening Thursday. The petition will be presented to W. R. Jinnett of Maunula, county representative, and R. N. Hill of Carthage, joint senator. Trustees all over the state are making this request.

MISERLY POLICY IS A HINDRANCE

Division of Geology Hopes Legislature Will Aid in Further Development of Resources

NO MONEY PROVES DRAWBACK

With no funds to publish reports, department is unable to prevent waste in oil drilling

By W. N. LOGAN

(State Geologist for the Department of Conservation)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 4.—The division of geology of the state department of conservation hopes that the incoming legislature will aid in the further development of Indiana's mineral resources, and although this division during the first 18 months of its existence, demonstrated its ability to accomplish a large amount of work with a small appropriation, yet it was hampered in its work and was not able to get the results of its investigations before the people of the State on account of the lack of funds for publication.

A miserly policy toward a scientific bureau of a state's government is not to be commended since such a policy often results in great economic losses. To illustrate, while our report on oil and gas was lying in manuscript form waiting for the necessary few hundreds of dollars for its publication, prospective oil wells were being drilled at an expense of thousands of dollars on land which this report showed offered not the slightest promise of oil or gas.

The work undertaken and in contemplation by the division of geology includes:

A complete survey of the coal resources of Indiana; a systematic study of all oil-bearing rocks in Indiana with a view of determining the crude oil content, by products, distribution and availability; to protect the rights of Indiana in the coal underlying the navigable rivers, the Wabash and the Ohio, a survey should be made to determine the amount of minable coal underlying the Wabash and the Ohio, a survey State in Sullivan, Knox, and Posey counties and under the Ohio river in Posey, Vanderburgh, Warrick and Spencer counties. The minable coal under the Wabash in Vigo county, belonging to the State, was estimated at nine million tons; A survey of the principal building stone quarrying districts of the state, in order to be of service to one of the state's leading industries. This district produces more than 70 percent of the limestone used in the U. S. for building purposes; A complete survey and laborator investigation of the ceramic materials of Indiana. Completion of a structural map of the state showing the location of all structures of oil and gas; Investigation of other mineral resources such as peat, marl, cement, materials, lime materials, moulding sands, road materials and mineral waters.

This extensive constructive program cannot be carried out unless the funds are available for meeting the necessary expenses of such investigations, and such funds should be provided.

In order to strengthen the position of the Conservation Department in conserving and developing the natural resources of the state it is hoped that the legislature will consider laws as follows:

Providing for a topographic survey of Indiana in cooperation with the U. S. Geological Survey and appropriating the necessary funds; act to strengthen the position of the Conservation more easily to recover coal under streams, defining boundaries, methods of procedure, establishing royalties, etc., act to prevent the destruction of good agricultural land by the indiscriminate stripping of coal; defining methods of procedure prescribing penalties etc.; act requiring manufacturers utilizing the natural resources of the state to make yearly reports containing statistics on production etc.; to the Dept. of Conservation; act to strengthen the position of the Dept. in its regulation requiring that all records of deep wells be furnished the Division of Geology within 30 days after the completion of the well.

ASK MEN TO RETURN TO WORK AS AMERICANS

Mahoney Stationery Co. of Kansas City Moves Against Unions and Employees Stay at Home

LOCKOUT IN FORM OF LETTER

Kansas, City, Mo., Jan. 4.—The first move on the part of Kansas City employers to make this city an open shop town came Monday when the Mahoney Stationery Company informed its printers that they were entitled to the job as American citizens but are not if members of the international Typographical union.

The lockout came in the form of a letter to the employees. The men left their work Friday night to return for the New Year today. Saturday special delivery letters were mailed to all employees. The gist of these letters read:

"Americans always will be employed by the Mahoney stationery Company, therefore beginning Monday morning January 3, only American citizens will be employed in the concern. If you wish to return to work as Americans and not as union men, your job awaits you."

None of the employees appeared for work. Only a policeman paraded in front of the concern.

Mother Falls Unconscious

"My mother, who is 69 years old, has been troubled with her liver for 35 years. Doctors said she had gall stones. Several times she fell unconscious because of these attacks. Eight months ago I noticed an advertisement of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy in the Toledo Blade and purchased a bottle, which did her a great amount of good. She continued the treatment and has felt entirely well since." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At Druggists Everywhere.—(Adv.)

Once the Cause is taken care of, the trouble disappears. Nature gets in her work and Health is the result. ## Mitzi Returns To New York

"Lady Billy" and "Mixed Marriage" Lates Premiere

New York, Jan. 4—Tiny Mitzi Hajos is still the incomparable Mitzi. She has taken on a few ounces since her last appearance here and now must weigh all of eighty pounds. This fascinating, versatile star reappeared here at the Liberty Theatre in "Miss Billy," a tailor-made vehicle, with book and lyrics by Miss Zelda Sears and music by a hitherto unknown protégé of Victor Herbert's Composer Harold Levey will be popular enough 'ere Mitzi fits from these parts on tour. The piece is sparkling with humor and the music will undoubtedly be pounded into the public's ears via phonographs and dance orchestras before the season is much older.

Mitzi portrays a bankrupt Roumanian countess, who poses as a boy and is thus discovered by an American engineer-tourist, who prevails upon the "lad" to accompany him to America to make a fortune as a boy soprano. The first act is laid in Roumania and the balance of the action takes place in New York's Greenwich Village section. Of course, everybody but the hero knows that Mitzi is not a boy and the third act is devoted to breaking the news to him. The best part of the whole business is that Mitzi must romp through two whole acts clad in knickerbockers, which she certainly becomes.

Mitzi sings and dances as charmingly as ever, and is exceedingly "easy to look at". Her mere appearance on the stage provoked an ovation which was intensified after her brilliant performance. Boyd Marshall as the American hero, acts in an agreeable and manly style, is an excellent singer—and is Mr. Mitzi in private life. Here's domestic concord! Sydney Greenstreet, as a butler, deserves mention, and his song, "The Worm's Revenge", brought him forth for many encores on opening night. The chorus can really sing and dance and those in minor roles fill them most capably.

It is feared that road cities will be compelled to wait some time for Mitzi. Her ours have created for her a large following and her appearance in the West and South is to be eagerly looked forward to.

Bigotry and its tragic result is effectively told in "Mixed Marriage", by St. John Ervine, presented here at the Bramhall Playhouse. This early composition by the author of "John Ferguson" and "Susan Clegg", was presented here some nine years ago by a company of Irish players, and, while not so good as Ervine's latest works, it is not without dramatic value.

The story is that of Irish life and is especially timely just now. The central figure is a Protestant, a labor leader, and the head of a family of four, whose bigotry makes him a virtual fanatic. As neighbors and fellow-workers it would seem to the interests of the characters to join forces, but religious differences hold them apart. The wooing of a Catholic girl by his son enrages the Protestant father, who had softened somewhat in his narrow mindedness and had been working on a reconciliation of strikers of both faiths. He undoes all the good he had wrought and when troops are called to quell the unruly mob, the girl, who feels that she has been the cause, rushes out to stop the firing of the troops and is killed. The father remains unrelenting to the end.

The story is not a pleasant one, but it is unfolded in language which touches the heart by its simple eloquence. Scattered here and there are occasional moments of sparklingly humorous dialogue and Ervine's deft handling of his subject makes it very evident that he knows the people with whom he is dealing.

Margaret Wycherly plays the part of the boy's mother and one cannot watch her beautiful portrayal of the patient, tolerant, understanding creature without a thrill of sympathy. Augustin Duncan, remembered for his work in "John Ferguson", has admirably grasped the idea of the intolerant father and gives an impressive performance, while Angela McCahill and Rollo Peters as the lovers, lend admirable support.

Scarfs Assume New Duties

IT IS a far cry from the misty scarfs of malines worn with evening dress to those of shaggy wool for outdoors and winter time, but all scarfs appear to have assumed new responsibilities. Some of them, made of heavy angora wool are something more than simple scarfs, and rival sweaters and sweater coats, being provided with pockets, sashes, buttoned girdles, ornamental borders, and traveling nearly always in the company of tams to match them. They come in many colors and color combinations, and are usually finished off with yarn fringes.

The school girl and the tourist find these new scarfs a joy—just suited to their needs. Two misses, on their way to or from the halls of learning, are outfitted with scarfs and tams, with much satisfaction, according to the picture. Wide and enveloping as these scarfs are, they are not as wide as some of those on display in the shops. One of them, at the left, is a plain, dark tan model with sash attached to one edge of the scarf at the back and looped over at the front. Knotted fringe exactly matches it and the tam is made of the same material as the scarf, with a pompon of wool like the fringe.

The scarf at the right has a wide border in a checker board pattern, which turns back to form a practical collar and a belt that buttons across the front.

Sometimes two lengths of angora wool are used to form a garment that stands between a scarf and a coat, and by this means is extended below the waistline at the back. But the scarfs pictured protect the body where it is most sensitive to cold and they are easier to make. The scarfs with tams to match are scoring a triumph as Christmas gifts for young women and without the tam, for others.

WOULD INCREASE SCHOOL STANDARDS

The resolutions were as follows: Whereas in recent years Indiana's rank among the States, along educational lines, has been considerably lowered from her former position, due largely to the fact that other states have developed more rapidly along these lines than we, by reason of greater expenditures, and

Whereas our State Educational Institutions in recent years have suffered greatly for lack of funds to properly maintain their various plants, equipments and teaching force, and

Whereas the problem of financing the schools is essentially a problem of state—

Therefore be it resolved by the Rushville Rotary Club that it heartily endorses the movement now under way to secure from our Legislature such fair and reasonable appropriations for educational purposes, as will not only stop our State's present tendency to lower its educational standard, but will eventually place her among the best in the United States, where she properly belongs.

For the purpose of carrying out this plan we respectfully request our representation in the present General Assembly to seriously consider this matter and to give their support to all fair and reasonable legislation which may be proposed, looking to the accomplishment of the purpose as set forth in the above resolution.

STUDY PEOPLE IN JEWELRY STORE

Wm. Barthman States Can Forecast Married Life When Couple Buys Engagement Ring

CITES FEW INCIDENTS

States Expected Slump in Jewelry Sales Looked For Long Ago Has Not Become Apparent

New York, Jan. 3—There is no business that furnishes a better opportunity to study human psychology than that of selling jewelry, according to William Barthman who for more than a quarter of a century has had a shop in Maiden Lane, the diamond center of America.

"One can invariably forecast the married life of a couple by their attitude when they come in to buy the engagement ring," he said today.

"It is easy to tell which will dominate after the wedding ceremony from their actions during the purchase. If she makes the selection and fixes the price, you may depend upon it that she will make most of the decisions after they are married, and vice versa. It is also possible to tell whether she will be thrifty or a spendthrift."

Barthman cited an instance of a young couple who came in to buy a diamond solitaire. The youth very delicately let his sweetheart understand that he did not feel able to pay more than $400 or $500. But every ring she decided upon was valued at $1,200 to $1,500. They finally compromised on one costing about $900, about twice what he had intended to pay.

"And if I had been that young man I would have been tempted to call it off right here," the grey-haired jeweler declared.

Barthman was asked how the average young man determines the size of the engagement ring.

"Well, a few of them bring their fiancées right in to try it on," he replied. "Some obtain from us a cardboard arrangement to fix the size. Others knot a string about her finger or try one of the rings she already has on one of her fingers. But the great majority just guess at it—and usually guess wrong. Most of those who guess select a ring too large, probably assuming they will be on the safe side when it comes to re-adjusting it. But it is just as easy to make a ring larger as it is to make it smaller."

What does the average young man buy his sweetheart, in the way of jewelry, and what does the average married man buy his wife?

Barthman said that gold or silver meshbags are the most popular gift during the courtship period, with gold bracelets and pearl opera glasses running a close second. After marriage, the woman usually demands a pearl necklace or a diamond and platinum bracelet, and gets it.

Gifts for children are generally in the form of a ring, bracelet or pin. When women make gifts to men they generally select a scarf pin or a gold fountain pen.

"It's interesting to watch the development of a young couple's courtship and marriage," Barthman said. "A young man will come in and buy some small present, such as a brooch, costing $15 or $20. A few months later he will make a little more expensive gift than, as birthdays and Christmases arrive, he increases the value of his gifts until finally the engagement ring is bought. Next is the wedding ring. After this there is a cessation of three or four years. They are spending all their money furnishing a home and making a start. If he is successful in business, this period will be followed by one of far more expensive presents."

Barthman said the expected slump in jewelry sales, looked for long ago, had not yet become apparent.

DISGUISED AS A PEASANT

Reports Received of DeValera's Landing in Ireland

Dublin, Ireland, Jan. 4.—A manifesto from President DeValera was reported to be in conference with the intercircle of Sinn Feiners.

Reports here said that the president landed in Ireland disguised as a peasant. He is said to have hobbled into a town on the west coast leaning on a staff and wearily shaking a head groomed with silver grey hair.

Two Sinn Feiners who resisted arrest in the County Limerick were killed by police it was reported today.

CARRIER PIGEONS GAIN HIGH HONORS

Feathered Fighters Are Today Members of The Enlisted Personnel Of The U. S. Army

SEAPLANES CARRY PIGEONS

During Last Ten Months U. S. Naval Pigeons Delivered 219 Messages From Seaplanes

Washington, Jan. 3.—Feathered fighters, a product of the world war, are now meeting true appreciation of their gallantry. The American carrier pigeon, his service stripes earned by "conspicuous bravery," is today virtually a member of the enlisted personnel of the United States Navy.

All naval aviation pigeons are being registered today, on the air-station muster in a manner similar to that employed in keeping the record of the personnel attached to the station. Every bird has his number.

As a recent navy order requires that all seaplanes, while in flight, must carry pigeons abroad, no details are overlooked in giving the birds the attention that their position warrants. It is no easy matter either, for a pigeon to break into the exclusive class of enlisted fighters. Not only must these air birds show a high degree of efficiency, after a period of training, but they must have attained a certain air of maturity. Young birds, for instance, are not allowed on the muster sheet until their legs have grown large enough to hold the band number of the naval air station to which they are attached.

Figures compiled by the Navy Department show that during the last ten months of the war, United States naval pigeons delivered 219 messages from seaplanes forced to land at sea. These planes were without any other means of communication and credit is given the pigeons for saving both men and machines. Many instances have been recorded where pigeons, operating on the Atlantic seaboard, have been instrumental in delivering messages requesting spare parts for disabled planes.

Recently at Pensacola, Fla., thirty-three birds were used by seaplanes in delivering messages. The pigeons covered 700 miles, with an average speed of 32 miles an hour.

Amusements

Replete With Scenic Beauty

"Maurice Tourneur's latest offering, "Deep Waters," is a photoplay replete with scenic beauty, true characterizations, and more than ordinary interest with its rugged folks of the New England coast, played against a background of marine beauty.

"Deep Waters" was shown at the Princess last night and will be repeated again today, and the picture is said to be the most absorbing that has been shown here for some weeks. This tale is not only unique, but it is so true to life that it never fails to interest. The action commences at a fashionable dinner in a big city; sweeps the beholder up to the New England coast, then back again. Returning to the seashore, it takes one in breathless bounds out over the waves to a rocky point where a light house is being erected. The deep sea divers, the granes with their loads of rock, and the many scenes of activity, make it a doubly interesting screen offering. It is a Paramount.

"Moon Madness", Mystic

It is rarely that a story finds its way to the screen which contains all the elements necessary to the successful photoplay—plot, good acting, excellent photography. Such a play, however, is "Moon Madness", the Haworth production, which opened at the Mystic Theatre yesterday for a run of two days. The players include Edith Storey and an all-star cast.

"Moon Madness", has for its main theme, the romance of youth.
